Press Comments

NEW YORK Sept 14—1 A M—The Herald's article will conclude The result in Maine puts a new face on the situation By imparting confidence to democrats and alarming republicans, it will inflame the zeal and spur activity of both The country will now enter upon the contest more earnest and heated than has been witnessed in our politics in a long period

CHICAGO Sept 14—1 A M—The Times says The success of the fusion ticket in Maine will not only cause profound astonishment to the whole country but will go a long way towards settling the presidential contest in advance Its influence will be felt especially in Indiana, where the scale is almost evenly balanced, and where it needs nothing more to turn the balance sharply in favor of the democrats. It will give the canvass for Hancock everywhere new life and vigor Results show that a majority of the people of a state, long republican are willing to abandon the republican party and are convinced that the country is in no danger of being subjugated by rebel brigadiers.

AUGUSTA Sept. 14—2 A M—Auburn gives Davis 1272 Plaisted 970 Rockland—Davis 7[illegible]9 Plaisted 797 Waldoboro—Davis 236 Plaisted 391

NEW YORK, Sept 14—2 A M—The Tribune says the result will be somewhat of a disappointment to the republicans and lead them out of their over confidence It also draws attention to the fact that there will be no fusion against the republicans in November The writer continues The refusal of a large proportion of the voters of a state to condemn the grossest crime ever attempted against an honest ballot is another proof that there is no iniquity which the democratic party will not approve to elect the democratic ticket

NEW YORK Sept. 14 2 A M—The Staats Zeitung says The unexpected reports of republican defeat in Maine will have a very discouraging effect on their efforts in Indiana and Ohio as well as the [illegible]

OREGON'S COMMERCE.

SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE OF PORTLAND OREGON

GENTLEMEN [illegible] in the fact that, although there are now running between San Francisco and Portland four of the largest and finest ocean steamers all at with a carrying capacity, in freight and passengers seven times greater than the steamers of 18[illegible] yet these ocean steamers are at all times fully employed Accordingly the recent census reports show that our flocks and herds in eastern Oregon and Washington still continue to increase that our wool exports keep pace with other developments that our import and domestic shipping trade is augmented each year and that Portland as the great entrepot of commerce for entire North Pacific coast still holds and will continue to possess the gate or distributing point through which passes that vast and increasing trade not only of eastern Oregon and Washington, but also of western and southwestern Oregon and portions of Idaho and western Washington

FINANCES

Nevertheless last year's short wheat crop in the Willamette valley, money was more plentiful at the banks than usual, and as a necessary consequence no stringency was felt in financial matters Rates of interest continue to depreciate and therefore like other commodities, money is in search of investments and is more abundant City real estate has absorbed and will continue to absorb a large proportion of such moneys, especially considering the confidence our citizens exhibit in the future value of city real estate This year's salmon trade together with the vast sums drawn from New York and London for railroad building has increased the exchange business of the banks and accommodations either for city or country improvements or for legitimate trade, are easily obtained

RESULTS OF WHEAT CROP OF 1879

In our last report to you in September, 1879 we anticipated that our wheat exports ending August 1st, 1880 would not exceed 140,000 tons The result has proved 1879 to have been after all not such an unprofitable year as was anticipated, and that our wheat exports therefor (including flour) amounted to 177,790 tons of which 120,000 tons came from western Oregon and the remainder from east of the mountains Prices ruled high, resulting in a return to the producer of over a dollar per bushel Taking the following, which we find to be correct the financial returns from our wheat crop of 1879, yielded us nearly seven millions of dollars

	CENTALS
Wheat to Great Britain	2 032 105	$4 161 212
to California	285,302	[illegible]
to other ports	264 000	4[illegible]7 350
		$[illegible]

Adding to these figures the exports of flour we obtain the following results

Flour, 12[illegible] 493 barrels (or reduced to wheat 451 481 centals) to Great Britain value	$[illegible]
Flour, to San Francisco 10[illegible] 977 barrels (equal to 3[illegible]9 932 centals) value	[illegible] 613
Wheat and flour in warehouses at Portland and Astoria Aug 1st, 1880 alone	[illegible]
Total receipts from wheat and flour exports for the year 1879	[illegible]

These wheat shipments to San Francisco ought not to be considered domestic but practically foreign shipments, reshipped at that city for Great Britain

PROSPECTS OF WHEAT CROP OF 1880

We have every reason to be thankful for the yield of grain in western Oregon this fall, a yield which competent judges state as the largest yet produced in quantity per acre therefrom especially in the Willamette valley, and estimated to exceed by 65 per cent that of 1879 Furthermore its quality and condition are excellent. But while this is so in western Oregon, the returns from eastern Oregon and Washington territory are scarcely so favorable There has, however been a much larger area seeded in wheat thereon and in consequence, while the average yield [illegible] will be less this year than last, yet the quantity to be carried to Portland and Astoria from east of the mountains will be large unless prices rule lower in the winter

The following is our estimated surplus for export during the present harvest year ending August 1st 1880, including wheat reduced to flour

	TONS
From Willamette valley and western Oregon	1[illegible]6 000
From eastern Oregon and eastern Washington territory	[illegible]
	2[illegible]6 000

It is much to be regretted that not only are prices low, but charters are high, exceeding sixty shillings per ton, while the number of vessels known to be heading for Oregon are not as large as was anticipated in the spring Taking present prices as the average for this year the financial result to this state and territory from this year's wheat crop, would be $7,944 000, or a little over one million dollars greater in money value than we realized last year That is to say, from 260 000 tons to be exported this year, we will (at present prices) realize only $7 946,000 while from 177 000 tons exported last year (which was a short harvest) we realized $6 609,145 The [illegible] crop all over western Oregon is above the average and prices have not fallen in sympathy with the wheat market as it is believed we have a fair market in our own state this year for oats

SALMON EXPORTS

During the year just closed we have exported 401,365 cases of salmon the greater portion of which realized the lowest prices ruling since the industry was first established on the Columbia river These cases represent part of the catch of 1879 and part of 1880 and therefore do not show a fair basis of the catch of such separate season This spring and summer catch has exceeded our anticipations and 530,000 cases have been packed during 1880 the prices of which are tending upwards The progress of this industry calls for special mention In 1870 the catch was 2[illegible],000 cases which was then considered an enormous yield 1877 [illegible] cases, and in 1879 [illegible] 455 000 cases [illegible] this year we have reached our maximum [illegible] cases showing the vast extent and the annual value of preserving [illegible] River Salmon [illegible]

WOOL EXPORTS

This season's product [illegible]

[illegible] That the lower Columbia should be improved at as early a day as possible is an admitted fact for the reason that an expenditure of a nothing less than $100,000 will now allow the largest class of foreign vessels to navigate this great channel of commerce and take away and bring to the people of the interior of both eastern and western Oregon and Washington at cheaper rates of transportation the increasing products which they export and the various necessaries of life which they consume and require to import, this improvement alone benefitting three fourths of the entire population of this state and territory The improvement of the Columbia bar, which in a corresponding degree is of equal importance next demands and has formerly been given your attention The memorials to congress which your committee on navigation procured and contained over 3,000 signatures of residents of the county of Multnomah, (thus showing the interest which this city takes therein) and were [illegible] presented to congress Of considerable importance to the state at large is the locks at the Lower Cascades now under construction, developing in a great measure that eastern country to which we look forward with pride as the future granary of the North Pacific coast These three river improvements in the order in which they are named require the attention of our senators and representatives who cannot fail to see that in carrying through the same they are conferring the greatest benefits which can accrue to this state and to its domestic and foreign commerce at large. The late high water on the Columbia has slightly altered the channels of that river in several places and which we are pleased to see is having the attention of that zealous officer, Col Gillespie in charge of our river improvements Likewise the Tillamook lighthouse appropriation and the new surveys and temporary improvement of the Columbia bar, all of which are proceeding as favorably and speedily as we could desire

We ought to feel indebted to the government for sending Gen Wright, the chief engineer at Washington of the harbor and river improvements, to inspect and report to the government the various claims we make for river improvements. Such a visit is of vast consequence to Oregon, and as the general is now among us we trust your board will not fail to see and represent to him personally our wants

PILOTAGE AND TOWAGE

This matter has recently come again before you and will come before the legislature now in session That a thorough revision of our laws on this important subject is necessary is beyond question The present high rate for charters from Portland and the scarcity of ships at this port is caused in a great measure through the want of adequate towage facilities Such tugs of the largest and most powerful capacity would double our foreign export shipping trade in two years to obtain which liberal fixed rates of pilotage and towage should be allowed by the legislature not for small tugs but specially given to powerful steam tugs which can in any weather tow into port and over the Columbia bar, like what is done in all other ports) the largest vessels proceeding to and from Oregon The mode of bringing about and operating such a desirable change when made is for the consideration of the legislature, but that it is essentially necessary for the large class of steam tugs, and these only to be employed on the bar is a matter which the shipping firms and pilots of the state recognize and are mutually interested therein

IMPORTS

Your board having recently succeeded in obtaining the treasury department to keep the ocean steamers between San Francisco and Portland to carry bonded goods and merchandise so that the duties thereon may be paid here we trust will enable us hereafter to obtain a satisfactory estimate (which otherwise has been impossible) of the value of foreign imports into Oregon Enough information has been produced to show us however that during the past year the imports have increased wonderfully the value of which has been swelled by the large quantities of steel and iron rails and railway materially imported into this state during 1880 The large number of bags imported into Oregon each year and necessary to enable its people to harvest and ship their wheat abroad brings with it the disagreeable fact that we are paying large and heavy duties to the federal government for the privilege of shipping our wheat abroad equal to two and a quarter cents on every sack of wheat we export to Great Britain or elsewhere. Such a large item saved to the farmers of Oregon when prices of wheat are low as during this year, is of itself a great profit to our producers. So also with the heavy and excessive duties on steel and iron rails placed on our railways, all of which have in the end to be borne by the inhabitants [illegible] railroad companies must charge for the transportation of wheat and produce to tide water. These subjects demand your especial attention and strong representation [illegible] to procure cheap interior transportation to tide water and export her products abroad

RAILROAD EXTENSIONS IN OREGON

No great country however vast its resources and however propitious its climate can attain prosperity without a network or system of railroads diverging through its available cultivation [illegible] and the evidence of which is [illegible] Eastern Oregon ten years ago [illegible]

GOLD IN SOLUTION

Interview with the Man who Proposes to make Gold as Cheap as Sand

He Describes his Process of Precipitating the Precious Particles—A Probable Humbug

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 13 A reporter was yesterday dispatched to Calistoga to interview Colonel Anson C Tichenor regarding the discovery of gold in the Thermal springs Calistoga The springs are situated in the Calistoga hot springs hotel property All the springs were sold three weeks since to Tichenor his wife, and Judge Dundy of Nebraska for $14,000 Tichenor then gave out that the springs especially that called Chicken Soup contained large quantities of gold in solution and announced his intention of putting up works His operations are carried on in a little shanty on one corner of the property At one end stands a sixty gallon cauldron and heating furnace besides an ordinary No 2 test furnace a few jars bottles an anvil several cuppels and crucibles with some pieces of old lead complete the outfit In reply to questions Tichenor who is an emaciated looking man about 45 years of age spoke as follows

I have for many years suspected that gold is held in solution in water Why not? Do we not have chloride of gold which has no affinity for quicksilver plate? Yet gold chloride is not metallic I first experimented on water brought from the Pacific ocean at the Cliff house From a gallon of this I obtained a net profit of $1 30 but this was not rich enough for me Besides I could not stand the fogs So I came here where the water is much richer There are fifty springs here all differing somewhat There are sulphur, iron, quicksilver and magnesia springs and some containing all From ten barrels I obtained $960

Reporter—How many days can you work with your present accommodations?

Tichenor—About fifty

Rep—Then at $5 per gallon you estimate you would clean up $750 in a day's run

Tichenor—About that but that ain't anything to what we will do when our patents arrive

Rep—Why do you patent that which you could much more safely conceal?

Tichenor—Because we choose to do so

Rep—Are you not afraid that you will make gold cheaper than sand at this rate?

Tichenor—Yes but will invest my money in real estate before the crash comes We will then have to get some other circulating medium than gold

Rep—Please explain your process

Tichenor—Well down in the interior of the earth where all this hot water comes from gold is formed by the agency of intense chemical and electrical heat This is in solution which no quicksilver will amalgamate This water fills seams of rocks and becomes transmitted into metal state through electrical influences Now if we can reproduce this state resulting in the precipitation of gold the problem is solved I suspend a piece of rolled sheet lead chemically pure in boiling water to which I have added two of the elements of gold which uniting with a third, form a bluish black precipitate of protoxide of gold which adheres to the lead All forms of gold have an affinity for lead By suspending lead in chemically treated water electrical influences occasion precipitate I believe gold is an alloy of other metals, and the only reason a chemist did not discover the art of transmutation was because all metals were not known then A hundred different metals may enter into alloy Further with any chemical preparation I had may be placed in sea water and in time gold will precipitate upon its surface In both cases ordinary treatment for smelting gold bearing lead ores is followed

Throughout the interview the colonel was extremely nervous and ill at ease and while assuming to care little for public opinion evidently cared a great deal The Call reporter who is here quoted says The whole business is evidently an attempted swindle Lead which is honest enough is placed in equally honest water when the elements of emerald are added Chloride of gold is probably added or gold filings added to melted lead before moulding bricks The hotel property has run down and a rush of sight seers would be acceptable The fraud is probably a sequel to the sulphurous mud swindle perpetrated not long since

Portland Sept 13—Returns from 148 towns give Davis [illegible] Plaisted [illegible] scattering [illegible] total 71,041 The same towns last year gave Davis [illegible] Smith [illegible] Garcelon 10,728 scattering [illegible] total 67,516 Davis majority 943 against 1068 last year

New York Sept 13—The Times at 11 o'clock to-night has the following from Augusta: Returns from the 1st congressional district indicate the defeat of Reed republican. The democrats now claim a clean sweep of the state, with the 3d 4th and 5th districts. The republicans still claim the legislature and governor

Augusta, Sept 13—Midnight—The immense crowds around the headquarters of both parties in the early part of the evening are dispersing. The vote has been very close. But indications now are that back towns will offset republican loss in the cities. At republican headquarters Davis' election is claimed as are the house and senate. The republicans lose one representative. The 4th and 5th districts are conceded. 118 towns give a net republican loss of about 200 over last year. At the fusion headquarters Plaisted's election is claimed by 2000 majority as are three of the five congressmen

Lewiston Sept 13—Congressman Frye is re-elected in the 2d district by about 1500 majority

Chicago Sept 13—A private dispatch says latest returns indicate that Plaisted (fusionist) for governor is elected. Congressmen Ladd and Murch (democrats) are elected. Anderson (democrat) is elected in the first district. Thirty two towns give Davis 18,618 Plaisted 16,322 scattering 120. The same towns in 1879 gave Davis 17,961 Smith 9374 Garcelon 5842

How the News was Received in New York.

New York Sept 13—The democratic national committee rooms to-night indulged in general rejoicing over the returns from Maine. At 11 o'clock in the republican national headquarters those gathered generally conceded that they had lost the state

The following dispatch was received from J L Smith secretary of the state committee of Maine: Indications are now that the election of Plaisted is assured unless country towns do better than the cities

Press Comments

New York Sept 14—1 A M—The Herald's article will conclude: The result in Maine puts a new face on the situation. By imparting confidence to democrats and alarming republicans, it will inflame the zeal and spur activity of both. The country will now enter upon the contest more earnest and heated than has been witnessed in our politics in a long period

Chicago Sept 14—1 A M—The Times says: The success of the fusion ticket in Maine will not only cause profound astonishment to the whole country but will go a long way towards settling the presidential contest in advance. Its influence will be felt especially in Indiana, where the state is almost evenly balanced, and where it needs nothing more to turn the balance sharply in favor of the democrats. It will give the canvass for Hancock everywhere new life and vigor. Results show that a majority of the people of a state long republican are willing to abandon the republican party and are convinced that the country is in no danger of being subjugated by rebel brigadiers.

Augusta Sept 14—2 A M—Auburn gives Davis 1772 Plaisted 970 Rockland—Davis 919 Plaisted [illegible] Waldoboro—Davis 235 Plaisted 691

Bath Sept 14—1 A M—Davis 1085 Plaisted 621 Calais—[illegible] Plaisted 419

New York Sept 14—2 A M—The Tribune says the result will be somewhat of a disappointment to the republicans and [illegible] them out of their over-confidence. It also draws attention to the fact that there will be no fusion against the republicans in November. The writer continues: The refusal of a large proportion of the voters of a state to condemn the [illegible] ever attempted against an honest ballot is another proof that there is no [illegible] while the democratic party will not [illegible]

New York Sept 14—[illegible] A M—The Staats Zeitung says: The unexpected reports of republican defeat in Maine will have a very discouraging effect on their efforts in Indiana and Ohio as well as the [illegible]

Boston Sept 14 2 A M—A dispatch to the Herald says [illegible] admits the defeat of Reed, Boutelle and [illegible] in the 1st 4th and [illegible] congressional districts, a fusion gain of one congressman

OREGON'S COMMERCE.

SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE OF PORTLAND OREGON.

GENTLEMEN: In the [illegible] for the year ending August 1880 [illegible] Oregon [illegible] confess that events which [illegible] progress [illegible] the southern states [illegible] the coast still [illegible] foreign and eastern immigration yet we are steadily increasing and amassing a state of wealth and prosperity compared with population [illegible] Oregon and Washington together with a large proportion from California this is the evidence of which is in the fact that, although there are now running between San Francisco and Portland four of the largest and finest ocean steamers afloat with a carrying capacity in freight and passengers seven times greater than the steamers of 1873, yet these ocean steamers are at all times fully employed. Accordingly the recent census reports show that our flocks and herds in eastern Oregon and Washington still continue to increase, that our wool exports keep pace with other developments, that our import and domestic shipping trade is augmented each year and that Portland as the great entrepot of commerce for the North Pacific coast still holds and will continue to possess the gate or distributing point through which passes that vast and increasing trade not only of eastern Oregon and Washington but also of western and southwestern Oregon and portions of Idaho and western Washington

FINANCES

Nevertheless last year's short wheat crop in the Willamette valley money was more plentiful at the banks than usual, and as a necessary consequence no stringency was felt in financial matters. Rates of interest continue to depreciate and therefore like other commodities money is in search of investments and is more abundant. City real estate has absorbed and will continue to absorb a large proportion of this money, especially considering the confidence our citizens exhibit in the future value of city real estate. This year's salmon trade together with the vast sums drawn from New York and London for railroad building has increased the exchange business of the banks and accommodations either for city or country improvements or for legitimate trade are easily obtained

RESULTS OF WHEAT CROP OF 1879

In our last report to you in September, 1879 we anticipated that our wheat exports ending August 1st, 1880 would not exceed 140,000 tons. The result has proved 1879 to have been after all not such an unprofitable year as was anticipated, and that our wheat exports therefor (including flour) amounted to 177,730 tons of which 120,000 tons came from western Oregon and the remainder from east of the mountains. Prices ruled high, resulting in a return to the producer of over a dollar per bushel. Taking the following which we find to be correct, the financial returns from our wheat crop of 1879 yielded us nearly seven millions of dollars

		CENTALS
Wheat	to Great Britain	2,032,10[illegible]	$4,164,212
	to California	2[illegible]	[illegible]
	to other ports	251,000	497,450
			$[illegible]

Adding to these figures the exports of flour we obtain the following results

Flour 12[illegible] barrels (or reduced to wheat 451,481 centals) to Great Britain value	$ [illegible]
Flour to San Francisco 103,977 barrels (equal to 329,932 centals) value	[illegible]
Wheat and flour in warehouses at Portland and Astoria Aug 1st 1880 value	[illegible]
Total receipts from wheat and flour exports for the year 1879	$6,6[illegible]

These wheat shipments to San Francisco ought not to be considered domestic but practically foreign shipments reshipped at that city for Great Britain

PROSPECTS OF WHEAT CROP OF 1880

We have every reason to be thankful for the yield of grain in western Oregon this fall, as it is one which competent judges state as the largest yet produced in quantity per acre, therefrom especially in the Willamette valley, and estimated to exceed by 65 per cent that of 1879. Furthermore its quality and condition are excellent. But while this is so in western Oregon, the returns from eastern Oregon and Washington territory are scarcely so favorable. There has however been a much larger area seeded to wheat there and in consequence while the average yield per acre will be less this year than last yet the quantity to be carried to Portland and Astoria from east of the mountains will be large unless prices rule lower in the winter.

The following is our estimated surplus for export during the present harvest year ending August 1st, 1881, including wheat reduced to flour

	TONS
From Willamette valley and western Oregon	[illegible]
From eastern Oregon and eastern Washington territory	[illegible]
	[illegible]

It is much to be regretted that not only are prices low, but charters are high, exceeding sixty shillings per ton while the number of vessels known to be heading for Oregon are not as large as was anticipated in the spring. Taking present prices as the average for this year the financial result to this state and territory from this year's wheat crop, would be $7,940,000, or a little over one million dollars greater in money value than we realized last year. That is to say from [illegible] tons to be exported this year we will (at present prices) realize only $7,946,000 while from 177,000 tons exported last year (which was a short harvest) we realized $6,609,148 [illegible] the average and prices have not fallen in sympathy with the best market as it is believed we have a fair market in our own state [illegible]

SALMON EXPORTS

During the year just closed we have exported 401,363 cases of salmon the greater portion of which realized the lowest prices ruling since the industry was first established on the Columbia river. These cases represent part of the catch of 1879 and part of 1880 and therefore do not give a true basis of the catch of each separate season. This spring and summer catch has exceeded anticipations and 530,000 cases have been packed during 1880 the prices of which in all foreign markets tend upwards. The progress of this industry calls for special mention. In 1876 the catch was [illegible] cases which was then [illegible] and in 1879 we had 435,000 cases [illegible] this year we have reached our [illegible]

WOOL EXPORTS

This season's product has increased [illegible] Oregon [illegible] Washington [illegible]

[illegible] fitting three fourths of the entire population of this state and territory. The [illegible] of the Columbia bar which is [illegible] of equal importance next demands [illegible] to congress [illegible] procured [illegible] the county of Multnomah [illegible] showing the interest which this city takes [illegible] considerable [illegible] the locks at the Willamette falls [illegible] eastern country to which we look forward with pride as the future granary of the North Pacific coast. The other river improvements [illegible] in the order in which they are named [illegible] the attention of our senators and representatives [illegible] which can accrue to this state and its domestic and foreign commerce at large. The late high water on the Columbia has [illegible] the channels of that river in several places and which we are pleased to see is having the attention of the [illegible] charge of our river improvements [illegible] Tillamook lighthouse appropriation and the new surveys and temporary improvements of the Columbia bar all of which are progressing as favorably and speedily as we could desire.

We ought to feel indebted to the government for sending Gen Wright, the chief engineer to Washington of the harbor and river improvements, to inspect and report to the government the various claims we make for river improvements. Such a visit is of vast consequence to Oregon and as the general is now among us we trust your board will not fail to [illegible] him personally our wants

This matter has recently come up again and will come before the legislature now in session. That a thorough revision of our laws on this important subject is necessary is beyond question. The present high rate of charters from Portland and the scarcity of ships at this port caused in a great measure through [illegible] want of larger towage facilities [illegible] the largest and most powerful [illegible] year to obtain [illegible] ought to be allowed by the legislature [illegible] the Columbia bar [illegible] is done in all the ports [illegible] Oregon [illegible] the consideration of the legislature but that it is essentially necessary for the largest class of steam tugs [illegible] should be employed on the bar is a matter which all shipping firms and producers of the state [illegible] mutually interested therein

IMPORTS

Your board having recently succeeded [illegible] the treasury department [illegible] steamers between San Francisco and [illegible] land to carry bonded goods [illegible] that the duties thereon [illegible] trust will enable us [illegible] to obtain a correct estimate [illegible] the value of foreign imports into Oregon. Enough information has been procured to show us however that [illegible] imports have increased wonderfully, the value of which has been swelled by the large [illegible] steel and iron rails and railway material imported into this state during 1880. The large number of bags imported into Oregon each year and necessary to enable us properly to harvest and ship our wheat abroad brings with it the disagreeable fact that we are paying large and heavy duties to the federal government for the privilege of shipping our wheat abroad equal to about two and a quarter cents on every sack of grain we export to Great Britain or elsewhere. Such a large tax saved to the farmers of Oregon [illegible] wheat are low as during this year [illegible] great profit to our producers [illegible] also with the heavy and excessive duties on steel and iron rails placed on our railways [illegible] the end to be borne by the income [illegible] railroad companies must charge for the transportation of wheat and produce [illegible] demand your especial attention [illegible]

GOLD IN SOLUTION

Interview with the Man who Proposes to make Gold as Cheap as Sand

He describes his Process of Precipitating the Precious Particles—A Probable Humbug.

SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN

San Francisco Sept 13—A reporter was yesterday dispatched to Calistoga to interview Colonel [illegible] concerning the discovery of gold in the Thermal springs Calistoga. The springs are known as the Calistoga hot springs hotel property. All the springs were sold three weeks since to Tichenor, his wife and Judge Dundy of Nebraska for $14,000. Tichenor then gave out that the springs especially that called Chicken soup contained large quantities of gold in solution and announced his intention of putting up works. His operations are carried on in a little shanty on one corner of the property. At one end stands a [illegible] cauldron and heating furnace [illegible] test furnace a few jars bottles and [illegible] several cupels and crucibles with [illegible] pieces of lead complete the outfit. In reply [illegible] Tichenor who is a fine looking man about 45 years of age spoke as follows:

I have for many years suspected that gold is held in solution in water. Why not? Do we not have [illegible] gold which has no affinity for quicksilver plate? Yet gold chloride is not metallic. I experimented on water brought from the Pacific [illegible] at the Cliff house. From a gallon of this I obtained a net profit of $1.80 but this was not rich enough for me. Besides I found [illegible] So I came here where the water is much richer. There are fifty springs here [illegible] differing somewhat. There are sulphur [illegible] and magnesia springs and some containing gold. From ten barrels I obtained $30.

Reporter—How many days can you work with your present accommodations?

Tichenor—About fifty

Rep—Then at $ per gallon you estimate you would clean up $750 a day?

Tichenor—About that. But that ain't anything to what I will do when our patents arrive.

Rep—Why did you patent that which you could much more safely conceal?

Tichenor—Because we choose to do so

Rep—Are you not afraid that you will make gold cheaper than sand of the same rate?

Tichenor—Yes but will invest my money in real estate before the crash comes. We will then have to get some other circulating medium than gold

Rep—Please explain your process

Tichenor—Well down in the interior of the earth where all this hot water comes from gold is formed by the agency of intense chemical and electrical heat. This is in solution which no quicksilver will amalgamate. The water fills seams of rock and becomes transmitted into metal state through electrical influences. Now if we can reproduce this state resulting in the precipitation of gold the problem is solved. I suspend a piece of [illegible] chemically pure in boiling water to which I have added two of the elements [illegible] with a third form a [illegible] black precipitate of protoxide of gold which adheres to the lead. All forms of gold have an affinity for lead. By suspending lead in chemically treated water electrical [illegible] precipitate [illegible] the art of transmutation [illegible] metal [illegible] can enter into alloy. [illegible] any chemical preparation [illegible] the gold will precipitate upon the surface. In both cases ordinary [illegible] smelting gold bearing lead ores is followed.

Throughout the interview the colonel was extremely nervous and [illegible] at ease and while assuming to care little for public opinion evidently cared a great deal. The Call reporter who is here quoted says: The whole business is evidently an attempted swindle. Lead which is honest enough is placed in equally honest water when the elements [illegible] are added. Chloride of gold is probably added or gold filings added to melted lead before moulding bricks. The hotel property has [illegible] a rush of sight seers would be acceptable. The fraud is probably a sequel to the auriferous mud swindle perpetrated not long since

A[illegible] had a question as to [illegible] in a [illegible] review of the struggle for the [illegible] What [illegible] the republican party did not [illegible] hard to [illegible] mind, in view of the fact that the efforts made during Buchanan's administration to get a free homestead bill through congress were distinctly defeated by democratic votes in spite of the utmost efforts of republicans to carry it. Again, when such bill was carried through congress by increasing republican strength in the last year of Mr Buchanan's term that functionary vetoed it and his veto was sustained by his party. And finally it was not till Mr Lincoln had become president and the republicans had the executive and both branches of congress that a homestead bill was enacted.

For many years a question as to what should be done with the public domain had occupied leading minds. The people who wanted free lands for actual settlement became interested in it. At length the great question of what disposition should be made of these lands became one of party policy. The question was whether the public domain should be open to monopoly by speculators, leading inevitably to a landed aristocracy, or reserved for actual occupants in small quantities at a nominal price or without price. It would seem that there ought to have been no difficulty whatever in adjusting this question at any time and in the right way. But the democratic party then controlled the government and the solid south then as now controlled the democratic party. The south wanted the public domain left open for absorption by speculators in the interest of large estates for propagation of slavery. That interest, ever vigilant, well understood that it could not exist where small freeholders prevailed, and hence it opposed with all its great power and it made its servant, the democratic party, oppose all pre-emption and homestead laws. Of course it was well known that if our new states and territories were occupied in quarter sections they would be occupied by working farmers and not by speculators and great planters.

On this scheme and policy the democratic party became actively committed against homestead and pre-emption laws and the republican party as actively committed in favor of them. On the 20th of January 1859 (see Congressional Globe of that year, page 492) a bill relating to pre-emptions reported from the committee on public lands was called up in the house. The bill proposed to make some changes in the details of the existing land laws but without affecting the substance of the old system of disposing of the public lands. At that time the republican party made its first strong effort to force a change in the system. As the laws then were, speculators might buy up the whole public domain and hold it. Then Mr Grow, of Pennsylvania, always a strong and honored name in the republican party, moved an amendment to the effect that no public land should be exposed to sale unless the same should have been first surveyed and the return of such survey filed in the general land office for ten years or more before such sale. The object of this amendment was simply to give pre-emptors who wanted to settle on the public lands ten years the start of speculators and monopolists. The amendment was adopted but by only two majority. Then the slave holding power rallied its forces, whipped in a lot of northern democrats to its service and defeated the bill. On the 1st of February the same year (1859) a homestead bill was introduced in the house. It passed after a hard fight, 76 votes being recorded against it. Among them were William H English of Indiana, now democratic candidate for the vice presidency, and now as then one of the northern lackeys of the solid south, and Lamar, Reagan, Vance, Hill and other southern ex-confederate democrats, now again in congress. The bill after passing the house reached the senate on the 17th February 1859 (See Cong Globe of that year, page 1074). Wade of Ohio moved to take up the bill. Then began a series of maneuvers on the part of democratic senators to defeat it. Finally Hunter of Virginia moved to set the bill aside and take up the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill. On this motion the vote was a tie—28 to 28. Every senator voting for Hunter's motion was a democrat, among them was Lane of Oregon. The vote being a tie the vice president, Breckinridge, gave the deciding vote in the affirmative, and thus the homestead bill was overslaughed. Other efforts were made during the session to get the bill before the senate, but all were defeated by a solid democratic vote including that of the democratic senators from Oregon.

But the republicans did not rest here. In the next congress their efforts were renewed. On the 6th March 1860 Mr Lovejoy (republican) of Illinois again introduced the homestead bill, the same one which had been defeated in the previous session. On the 12th March the house again passed the bill, 67 members, all democrats, voting against it. The demand for the bill was now becoming so general that even the senate passed it, though by a close vote. Then it went to the president. On the 22d June (1860) he returned the bill with a veto, accompanying it with an elaborate message setting forth his reasons. According to the democratic habit, he made a constitutional argument on the subject, holding that "it was never intended by the framers of the constitution that these lands should be given away by congress." He argued further that the act was one of agrarian tendency, that "the honest poor man desires no charity either from the government or his neighbor; that this bill which proposes to give him land out of the property of the government will go far to demoralize the people and repress their noble spirit of independence, and finally that it may introduce among us the pernicious social theories which have prov[illegible] [illegible] in other countries." That [illegible] danger of making a commun[illegible] [illegible] convert a people into land[illegible] [illegible] make them self supporting [illegible] was an original theory and [illegible] was the theory that it wo[illegible] [illegible] throw the [illegible] open [illegible] the people. It was quite [illegible] tional cour[illegible] to allow speculators and slave holding aristocrats to monopolize the new [illegible] a homestead law the [illegible] had to wait till the republican party controlled the entire legislative power [illegible] government, and then such a law [illegible] with the bills which the democratic party had so often beaten, was immediately p[illegible] on the statute book of the country.

We are informed [illegible] Hon J N [illegible] will [illegible] speeches at several places [illegible] the [illegible] the election. Also that Hon [illegible] will likewise [illegible] the close of the canvass republican [illegible] should be and doubtless will be very [illegible] the state.

THE MAINE ELECTION

Returns from the Maine election last night were very late coming in. The result is extremely close, there being a slight gain on the part of the fusionists over their vote of last year, with chances that their candidate for governor is elected. The republicans have made so strong a fight as their bulletins indicated, and since they have not come up to their expectations they have really suffered a defeat. The fusionists have apparently won by a few hundred majority. Their combination swept in all the opposition elements of the state, democrats, greenbackers, temperance advocates and other classes, all who for whatever cause had reason or sought a pretext for a united attack on the republican party. The result is the culmination of that political discontent of a local character which has been growing for years in Maine, and it is a republican defeat. Now it becomes a question whether this fusion can hold together and exert its united strength in the presidential election. This may be doubtful, since its strength has been built up on local or state issues rather than on national questions. Therefore it need not be concluded that the republicans will necessarily lose the electoral vote of Maine. If the situation in other states were similar to that in Maine the result now reported might be taken as a very certain indication of a disastrous issue of the presidential election. It is to be remembered however that for two years past the republicans have failed to carry Maine, though last year there was a clear republican majority in every other northern state holding an election. Yet the fact is that the failure of the republicans to get a majority in Maine now is likely to have a depressing effect in the close states, more for the reason that a majority was expected than from the fact that the local conditions which have produced this result in Maine will be in operation elsewhere. However, the legislature appears to be republican and it is not yet entirely certain that the governor is lost, though the chances point that way. The legislature now chosen will elect a senator of the United States to succeed Mr Hamlin.

A JUDICIAL EXAMINATION

In an article in the September number of the International Review, presented in the form of a careful and thorough discussion of the presidential question, Hon John Jay, a man whose ability is as conspicuous as his political independence is well known, ascribes personal merit to the rival candidates and lays stress chiefly on comparison of the history, objects and tendencies of the two parties. He says this about one of the candidates:

> The imputations against Mr Garfield in the De Golyer and Credit Mobilier matters have been disproved after the fairest examination by able and independent sheets like the Nation and Evening Post. Indeed they were answered years ago to the satisfaction even of his most eminent political opponents, whose regard and confidence since his nomination have been expressed in terms honorable to their candor.

And this about the other:

> Gen Hancock's adherents present abounding and flattering testimonials to his character and abilities. Some of the charges against him have proved to be as frivolous as those against General Garfield. That about Mrs. Surratt hardly deserved refutation, and in reference to a conspiracy to sustain the claims of Mr Tilden against the decision of the electoral commission has been disposed of by General Hancock's able letter to General Sherman of December 28 1876.

From this he passes to an examination of the parties. Of the republican party he says:

> The record of the republican party as briefly alluded to in its resolutions is singularly brilliant—the suppression of a rebellion which had armed nearly a million of men, the reconstruction of the union of the states, with freedom instead of slavery as its corner stone, the transformation of four millions human beings from the likeness of things to the rank of citizens (if indeed they really possess that rank), the raising our paper from thirty eight per cent to the par of gold, the lifting the national credit from six per cent bonds at eighty three to four per cent bonds above par, the extraordinary increase in our import and export trade, the increase of our railroads from thirty one thousand miles in 1869 to eighty two thousand in 1879, the great revival of immigration at this time, the revival of the various industries of the country, the increased demand for labor and the higher rate of wages following close upon resumption—that signal triumph of Mr Hayes' administration which has placed the name of John Sherman at the head of the great financiers of this nineteenth century.

Of the democratic party this is said:

> Neither the democratic refusal of appropriations which required the extra session, nor the legislation for silver coinage—under which forty five millions of silver dollars, eleven per cent below the value of gold dollars, are accumulating month by month, embarrassing the treasury and compelling the erection of new vaults amid the smiles and wonder of the world—nor the democratic policy generally on finance and currency and against resumption have at all tended to inspire confidence; while the cipher frauds disclosing the attempt to capture the presidency, the recent effort to capture the state of Maine in which men hitherto regarded as respectable were concerned, and the official disclosures respecting the means adopted to make a solid south, have increased the distrust created by the democratic record in past years. * * * We have been reminded that the constitutional amendments were not ratified by a single democratic legislature, that in some cases the certificate given by a republican legislature was revoked by a succeeding democratic legislature, and, that apart from the question of its doubtful validity, the prohibition of the payment of the rebel debt does not forbid the payment of southern claims. The first installment of these, including claims for rebuilding bridges, for refunding the cotton tax, for the use and occupation of property, for return of proceeds of captured property, the refunding and remission of direct tax, private relief bills, etc, amount to $2[illegible],362,386—a sum larger than our actual debt, besides some bills under which the awards might amount to thousands of millions more.
> We have heard, too, the threat that the last vestige of the war legislation shall be swept from the statute book, and a bill introduced in congress by Mr Morgan of Alabama at the last session for increasing the number of supreme court justices to twenty one indicates an easy mode by which the laws of congress which may be objectionable to the south, and even the amendments to the constitution, may be wiped from the statute book.

In these brief extracts enough is presented for formation of an opinion as to the two parties and the duty of the voter. The presentation of the subject is comprehensive enough to include all that really need be said, and it is through calm judgments like this that many thousand votes will be decided.

A New School History of the United States, by J S Blackburn of Virginia and W N McDonald of Kentucky, is published by W J C Dulany & Co of Baltimore. It is said to be largely used in southern schools. Among other things it teaches the youth of the south to venerate sectionalism and state sovereignty and to hate national principles. [illegible] ranks Lee with Washington, [illegible] speaks of German and Irish citizens who fought for the union as foreign mercenaries, and the [illegible] of Europe, and asserts that the southern people in making war were only struggling for liberty. There is another book likewise, The Southern Student's Handbook of Selections for Reading and Oratory, made up wholly from speeches, poems and essays by public men and writers of the south—all the extracts being selected with a view of extolling the confederate [illegible] [illegible] that the southern people have [illegible] true to the constitution [illegible] [illegible] rational affairs into the hands of [illegible] who [illegible] sovereignty.

Both branches of the legislature [illegible] officers good selections were made. The [illegible]

SOMETHING MORE ABOUT YAZOO

PORTLAND, Sept [illegible]

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I a[illegible] Mr [illegible]arrett [illegible] distinguished [illegible] grant [illegible] Mr Dell speaking [illegible] Yazoo [illegible]

The [illegible] 1 000 and [illegible] now [illegible] 1 800 [illegible] 5 000

[illegible] Mr [illegible] about Yazoo [illegible] possible that [illegible] Yazoo [illegible] But [illegible] 1860 [illegible] Yazoo [illegible] 1860 [illegible]

But the [illegible] Yazoo [illegible] from 1860 to 18[illegible] from 1870 to 18[illegible] going [illegible] Mr Dell [illegible] stake in having [illegible] proper [illegible] impossible to believe that [illegible] people [illegible] turns Now, as Mr Dell has [illegible] getting a better character for his Yazoo friends and as that character is [illegible] by Gov. Ston[illegible] Mr [illegible] Andrew Mr Mayor [illegible] several other persons To assert that [illegible] white [illegible] for [illegible] as [illegible] in Oregon it may be asked of Mr Dell [illegible] who these Yazoo [illegible] In 1875 the White League [illegible] republican [illegible] Yazoo county killed some and drove [illegible] Among those killed was a member of the legislature named Patterson Patterson was wealthy and at the time of his hanging had on his person a large sum of money [illegible] Patterson family [illegible] the leader of the [illegible] the hanging, became an independent candidate for sheriff

Dr McCormick the chairman of the democratic committee of Yazoo county published a card declaring that Dixon was the leader of the mob which hung Patterson and that he [illegible] the money on the person of Patterson Dixon replied [illegible] the public

Owing to certain reports in circulation that Patterson a member of the republican legislature who was hanged in the eventful campaign of 1875 had a considerable sum of money on his person and that said money was used for my own benefit I feel in honor bound to vindicate myself. Although I regret to refer to the past as it will bring before the public many of our best citizens I will simply state that said money and larger sums were raised and used to defray the expenses of the campaign and to stuff the ballot boxes if necessary, to purchase certificates of election for two officers now holding offices of trust and emolument in our county I have in my possession the necessary proof and if called upon will publish it

To this McCormick replied evasively saying only "The constituted authorities of the democratic party had nothing to do with raising said money, or the use made of such money"

To this Dixon replied in a card that "the Patterson money was used to defray current expenses of the eventful campaign of 1875 that $2 000 was paid to have the ballot boxes stuffed if necessary, and to issue certificates of election to the democratic candidates, that Dr McCormick was chairman of the democratic executive committee at the time and was a party to the contract I have in my possession the necessary receipts [illegible] show who received the $3,000 and also the false key to the ballot box"

It will be noticed that Dixon does not deny the killing of Patterson, but charges that he had the proof that the money was employed in the cause of democratic reform, Mr Dixon, however, paid with his blood for his temerity in opposing the democratic party But Mr Dell is this not the democratic plan of carrying an election? No man ever pretends that Patterson was a bad man except that he was a republican Murder a man, rob his dead body in the cause of Mississippi chivalry, and apply the proceeds to pay for stuffing the ballot box This is the "plan" Mr Dell, it is not approved in Oregon railroad connection from the Atlantic to the Pacific within five years.

OREGON'S COMMERCE.

[Concluded from First Page.]

HARBOR OF REFUGE.

The board of engineers authorized by congress to make this selection have chosen Port Orford in Southern Oregon. That this harbor of refuge—if ever built—will confer any great benefits on this state corresponding to the amount of money which will be expended in its construction is very doubtful. Indeed, taking a moderate view of it, the chances are that the expenditure of money necessary to be authorized from time to time by congress will seriously retard the greater improvements required on our rivers, and which taken altogether will not amount to anything like the sums to be expended on this harbor of refuge alone. Your board's views on this matter should be conveyed to our senators and representatives.

BANKRUPT LAW.

It is a recognized fact that the abolition of the national bankrupt law in 1876, and the failure of the legislature of this state to pass an adequate act in its stead, has materially restricted the interior trade of the country with Portland, and given cloak for irresponsible merchants carrying on compromises with their creditors. Your board has during the last year communicated with various boards of trade in other states thereon, and a bill, it is hoped and believed, will be passed by next congress remedying the evils complained of. Meantime, if our state legislature, now in session, would alter the present assignment law so as to enable the general body of creditors to choose the insolvent's assignee, some relief would be given the mercantile community at large.

GENERAL MATTERS.

Real Estate Values.—During the winter of 1879 a sudden depreciation in the values of farming lands in the Willamette valley took place on account of the rust, which for the first time in the history of the state attacked the lowlands. But this depression did not continue long and farming lands have [illegible] buoyancy and would [illegible] not been for the low price of wheat this fall. In this city values of all real estate, improved and unimproved, have increased with the confidence felt in the future development of the country through railroad building therein all terminating in this city. Building in Portland continues to progress with confidence and as yet no inflation or unwarranted values seem to be placed on real estate, nine tenths of investors preferring to hold than to sell at present prices.

Development of the State.—Traveling all over the state, both in Eastern and Western Oregon, one cannot fail to see great changes and improvements, and that the people are reaping the benefits of moneys being spent in railroad construction. Labor is fully employed at remunerative rates of wages, and confidence both in the future of this city and state seems to pervade all classes of the community; while transportation charges on the Willamette river and the railroads of Western Oregon are moderate, and the price of sacks, agricultural implements and other commodities used by the producer are cheaper in price this than previous years.

Immigration and Travel between San Francisco and Portland on the steamships is still increasing, while immigrants are arriving overland in wagons to settle in our midst in larger numbers than formerly. The character of those magnificent ocean steamers of the O. R. & N. Co. has helped materially to increase our population, and few persons return from the state dissatisfied with our resources. Abroad and in our sister states and territories Oregon's reputation is being wide spread, and the prospects are that as we become better known our immigration will increase in a greater ratio than it has done even in the past, caused by the development of railways, and the new lands which will be opened thereby to the immigrant and new comers in search of homes.

Manufactories.—Unfortunately few new large enterprises of this nature have been added to those now in operation, although in the country districts minor improvements are being made. With the great water power facilities which our state possesses, and in such abundance, with timber and the raw material here and moderate transportation facilities, there cannot be a doubt but manufacturing enterprises will in this state eventually increase and displace the present large—very large indeed—imports from the eastern states of agricultural implements and all sorts of wooden and iron ware, nails, etc., used in this state. The profitable extensions made by the Oregon Iron works company at Oswego show the field and chances there are for the development of such industries, and what is necessary to bring about such a result is the co-operation of a few of our prominent and wealthy citizens in enterprises such as the establishment of rolling mills, and the erection of a sugar refinery in or near Portland. The repairs to the extensions of railroads already existing in this state and territory would keep well employed a small rolling mill in Oregon for years to come.

RESIGNATION OF THE SECRETARY.

In parting with your board as its secretary for six years I cannot sufficiently express the pleasure it has given me to co-operate with you in the various public duties to which you have so repeatedly called me, and I trust your board will in the future progress in the public's confidence as it has done in the past, and continue to be a disinterested institution, whose whole aim and objects are and have been the development of the entire state at large, favoring no section in particular, individual or corporation.

STATISTICAL INFORMATION.

Under a former resolution this year's detailed statistics will fail to be made up on 1st January next. But I have compiled the usual abstract statement of our exports at the harvest year ending 1st August, 1880, which you will be pleased to notice exceeds fifteen millions of dollars. None but those working with statistical information can appreciate, as I do, the valuable services which the Commercial Reporter of this city renders to the mercantile community from time to time, and those which Mr. J. R. Farish, its editor, has rendered to me as a member of the statistical committee of your board.

I remain, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM REID, Sec.

PORTLAND, Oregon, Sept. 13, 1880.

Small lots of wheat are coming in by all lines: not sufficient however, to certainly establish the character of this year's crop. The Willamette valley wheat which has arrived, and samples of lots to come, are of good quality and in clean and merchantable condition. The same cannot be said of receipts from Walla Walla, which are shriveled in many instances. Lots received range in quality from fair to very bad, and if the great bulk to come is not better, the gap between the values of Western Oregon and Eastern Washington grain will be widened to the great disadvantage of the last named. Nor will present loss be the only damage. The reputation gained for that section by its splendid crop of last year will be lost, and many favorable seasons must pass before it can be regained. These motives should prompt producers and shippers to spare no effort in preparing their grain for market. Of course, shriveled lots cannot be made plump by any sort of care; but they can come in clean and merchantable shape. Nothing whatever is doing in the wheat market, owing to the earliness of the season and indisposition to sell at present rates, but nominal quotations are about as follows: For Walla Walla, per cental, $1 10@1 25, according to quality; for valley, $1 50 per cental is an outside figure.

Never before has the freight market at Portland maintained steadily independence of the San Francisco market as for the past few weeks. Charter rates here are the same as at San Francisco, which will result in direct shipment of the bulk of our surplus. With equal rates, of course, no margin is left to pay steamer freights to San Francisco, and unless there should be some sudden and improbable change in the situation, little grain will go that way. While, with the present scarcity of tonnage, this stoppage of the usual outlet deadens the local market, it will in the end benefit Oregon.

There are at present six unchartered grain carrying ships in port, aggregating a registered tonnage of 8000 tons and a carrying capacity of fully 12 000 tons as follows: Francis Thorpe, 1200; Valiant, 1500; Chandos, 1600; Ringleader, 1300; Oasis, 1100, and the Gatherer, 1400. Rumors as to offers both for and to charter are numerous but unreliable. We hear upon direct authority, however, that 62s 6d for an iron ship now in port to load for the United Kingdom has been declined.

The Mary S. Ames 700 tons, now at this port, has been chartered to load at Yaquina bay, terms not stated, and will soon sail for that port.

There were no arrivals or departures at this port yesterday.

With the chills and fever, the victim of malaria may still recover by using this celebrated specific, which not only breaks up the most aggravated attacks, but prevents their recurrence. It is infinitely preferable to quinine, not only because it does the business far more thoroughly, but also on account of its perfect wholesomeness and invigorating action upon the entire system.

For sale by all druggists and dealers generally.

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Disease, Skin Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

DR. C. McLANE'S

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.
